Dear Hiring Manager,

I am very much interested in applying for the Backend Developer Internship position at HENNGE. I am a first year Computer Science student and I see this as a great opportunity to build upon my skills, develop my interests in development whilst gaining experience in a fast paced environment. In addition, I am confident that HENNGE's pipeline for advanced technology and creative solutions perfectly fits my inclination to pursue developer paths and partake in the development of great projects.

Ever since I started studying Computer Science I have been motivated by an insatiable thirst for self-improvement. Every day I come with the attitude that I need to go beyond my comfort zone if I want to grow. My passion and interest in backend stem from the fact that the internet requires problem solving, system processes, and building applications that are solid and scalable. While I have built up this experience with solving algorithms and data structure problems similar to LeetCode, I now want to take it from that comfort zone into real development work.

The aspect of this opportunity that interests me the most is the ability to deliver in a work environment that lives on innovation and problem-solving. You have been active on HENNGE that is dealing with the technology of directive in connection with giving to solutions in the streamline of business operations. With a passionate sense of curiosity and a desire to learn about how does things work, I am excited at the prospect of helping the team achieve its goals in practical use case challenges. I'm ready to do whatever it takes to deliver on the role because I believe we grow through adversity.

I may not have years behind me, but I have never stopped improving myself with every opportunity I get. I feel that a position at HENNGE would not only develop my technical skills but also give me an amazing environment to grow. As I am looking to grow as a backend developer, I can't wait to provide value for HENNGE's mission and learn from your great talent team.

I appreciate you taking the time to hear my application. As a passionate programmer with a strong desire to learn, I am eager to take on new challenges and be part of a team that pushes the boundaries of technology. Thank you for considering my application, and I hope to have the opportunity to join your team and contribute to the success of the organization.

Sincerely,

Sanzhar Kazakstan